SUPREME COURT.

DECISIONS RENDERED YESTERDAY.

There were only three judges of the Supreme Court present yesterday. Opinions were delivered in four cases, each of which possesses some interest for members of the bar and the general public.

Conly vs. Conly, &c. From the Circult Court of Fairfax. Affirmed, Judge Moncure delivering the opinion. This case involved the question of the legality of a paper admitted to probate as the last will and testament of Edward C. Conly, as follows:

"LEWINSVILLE, August 19, 1862. "Dear Wife,—I am going away. I may never return. I leave my property to Gaines and Dan. Dispose of it as you think fit. Don't forget sister Mary and Bridget. Pay William McCauley $20; Patrick Sullivan, EDWARD C. CONLY.

"Witness: Samuel Farnsworth." Gaines and Dan, were the adopted sons of Conly. The Court of Appeals held that the will was valid. Ball, &c. vs. Ball, &c. From the Circuit Court of Fairfax. Affirmed, Judge Mon-cure delivering the opinion of the court. The question which this case presented was how the estate of Mrs. Martha C. Bal should be divided among heirs at law-that is, in what shares and proportions. She died five children of a deceased son, six children equal parts, and one of said parts be allotted to each of the said eleven living chilshould be first divided into two equal parts, and one of the said parts be allotted to the said five children of one of the sons, equally said two equal parts to be allotted to the said six children and the said grandchild of the the true legal mode of apportionment—that

> Jones vs. Benson, &c. From the Circuit Court of Richmond county. Reversed, Judge Staples delivering the opinion of the Court. In an action of debt brought by Benson against Sydnor & Jones upon a negotiable note an office-judgment was entered and confirmed at the March rules, 1868. At the following April term of the court that judgment would have become final by operation of law if not set aside. It appears from the docket that the defendants, during the term filed a plea of nil devet, but no entry of it was made upon the record, nor does the record show that the office-judgment was in fact set aside; but it does show that the cause was continued until the next term. Both plaintiff and defendant and their counsel were under the impression that the plea had been filed, and that the case was pending, for at the October term, 1869, they went into the trial, waiving a jury, and agreeing to submit the case to the Judge. After the argument was concluded, and the paper placed that there was no entry of any plea on the record, and the Judge held that the officejudgment, not having been set aside, became final as of the last day of the April term, 1868, and that there was no cause in court. Upon appeal to the Court of Appeals, Judge Staples, delivering opinion of the Court, held that the Circuit Court erred in its de eision. The statute prescribes that the officejudgment may be set aside upon the defendant's appearing and pleading to issue. But this is not the only mode by which it may be done. The same object may be effected by motion to set aside the judgment with liberty to plead at a future period, or by any other order entered during the term inconsistent with the finality of the judgment. The order of continuance entered at the April term, 1868, if it had not the same effect as a plea to the action, at least prevented the judgment becoming final by operation of law. The cause being on the docket, and being continued by the court, was necessarily a The failure to enter upon the record the plea of nil devet was obviously an accidental omission of the clerk. Both parties comcause was at issue upon the plea of Haxall, vice-president; and Mr. R. T. Brooke, nil devet, and they acted upon that conviction in their agreement to waive a jury and submit the whole matter of law and fact to the decision of the Court. The judgment of the Circuit Court is therefore erroneous, and Broad-Street Methodist church last night. must be reversed, with costs.

Fleming's executrix vs. Terry, &c. Fully submitted.

The next five cases on the docket are: Haynes's administrator vs. Haynes; Payne, near, &c. The first two cases will take but very little time.

POLICE COURT, YESTERDAY .- Justice Joseph I. White presiding .- Wednesday morning Lewis Spencer, a negro man, was arrested on the charge of fraudulently collecting money from R. J. Willis for the ostensible purpose of burying William Mitchell, the negro man who was drowned in the dock a short time since. Yesterday morning Spencer was brought before the Police Court. The evidence disclosed the fact that the accused was in the habit of raising money in that way. Spencer, having been convicted of petit lareeny once before, was sent on to the grand jury of the Hustings Court to answer the charge of felony. The case of Tazewell Corr, charged with trespassing on the premises of and threatening to cut Nicholas Neurohr with a knife, was continued until to-day.

The case of Ben. Merriweather and Peyton Anderson, two colored boys, charged with breaking and entering the pigeon-house of Walter E. Addison and stealing twelve geons, valued at three dollars, was continued until Saturday.

CONVICTS RECEIVED .- Thomas W. Bunday five years, for attempting, and William Jones two years, for breaking into a vessel, were received from Norfolk yesterday at the penitentiary ; also, Andrew Jones, for five years, for house-breaking, from Prince George.

END OF A SUIT FOR DAMAGES BETWEEN LAores .- In July of 1878, upon complaint of Miss Mary N. Tinsley, Justice T. M. Saunders issued a warrant for the arrest of Miss Clara Blakely, charged with having illegal possession of one breastpin of the said Mary N. Tinsley. Accused was acquitted by the Police Justice. Accused, representing that she had suffered great pain of body and anxiety of mind, and was greatly exposed and injured in her credit and circumstances. entered suit against Miss Tinsley for twenty five dollars damages. It not appearing, as alleged, that Miss Tinsley "falsely, and maliciously, and without any reasonable or probable cause," instituted the prosecution, the jury, under the instructions of the Judge, found a verdict for the defendant. RICHMOND FIRE ASSOCIATION OF VIRGINIA The first annual meeting of this insurance company was held in the company's office last evening. Mr. Bolling W. Haxall was appointed chairman, and Mr. R. T. Brooke cretary. The annual report of the Board of Directors was read by the president, Mr. H. K. Ellyson, showing that the company was doing a steadily increasing business in nine States, and that the stockholders might expect good dividends from their investments. The following gentlemen were elected directors for the ensuing year: H. K. Ellyson, James A. Scott, Clay Drewry, John W. Wright, Edward Mayo, Thomas Potts, William H. Haxall, A. D. Williams, Peter C. Warwick, John Abern, Thomas William Pemberton, W. S. Donnan, Jr., Edgar D. Taylor, George W. Allen, Richard H. Meade, William D. Gibson, Charles L. Todd, S. M Rosenbaum, Lewis D. Crenshaw, Jr., W. W. The lecture-room was about half filled, and argued by James Alfred Jones, Esq., and about half of the audience was made up of young couples. In many respects the Doc-Walker vs. Beauchler, &c. Fully argued tor's lecture was quite interesting, but in by Francis L. Smith, Jr., Esq., and submit- others it was only a repetition of what is heard and said every day about the marriage relations. He talked a good deal about the ladies, but dealt very kindly with the wicked survivor, vs. Tutwiler, &c.; Barton vs. men. He thought it was the duty of every Bowen and wife; Barton vs. Rothrock; man to marry, but he denounced wife-hunt-Georgia Home Insurance Company vs. Ken- ing in emphatic terms. He discussed the problem as to whether a bachelor can live happily, and concluded that he couldn't. Whether the ladies ought to marry was a knetty question he wouldn't and didn't undertake to decide. He told several snecdotes during his lecture, and got away from his subject several times during the evening. He spoke of the qualities that a woman ought to possess to make a good wife, but when he came to talk about the husband, for the sake of the husbands who were there, he didn't get any further than to say be must be a man of character. But it is scarcely fair to the Dector to give a bare notice of his lecture, which possessed some very forcible and inin chancery. The assignee was directed to teresting features. RICHMOND, March 22, 1876. Editors of the Dispatch:

In reply to "Monroe's" question in today's Dispatch as to which one of the late primary-election plans I alluded and objected to in my previous communication, I would briefly say that there was but one election plan adopted and recognized by the City Committee last fall, as their records wil show; and the very fact that this plan could should not be sold free of liens, and the re- be and was applied and construed differently should of itself have been a serious objection. "Monroe" himself gives sufficient evidence of this when he supposes that the last election was conducted upon two different and distinct plans. Should my anonymous friend, however, wish or see proper to discuss this matter still further I would request it over his own signature. Very respectfully, L. WAGNER.
